

Nexans principles

Nexans integrates Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) in its strategy and respects the highest standards of business ethics and business conduct which are summarized in its Code of Ethics & Business Conduct, updated in 2011 and available in www.nexans.com. By adhering to UN Global Compact, Nexans confirms its commitment to respect its fundamental principles in the areas of human rights, labour standards, the environment, fight against corruption and marks its determination of deploying improvement action plan to increase its performance in the field of sustainable development. Supplier CSR Charter attests Nexans determination of promoting and sharing the application of CSR principles with its suppliers, with whom Nexans pursues to build a business relationship based on honesty, trust and mutual interest. In particular, Nexans selects suppliers through open and competitive invitations to tender (e.g. requests for quotations or bidding processes) and strives to ensure that all tenders (including received proposals) are given equal consideration.

Supplier's principles

Nexans requests suppliers to take part in its CSR approach by committing themselves in a continuous improvement approach towards the principles listed in this charter. Supplier CSR Charter establishes the principles that suppliers shall adhere to their activities and sites worldwide. For principles listed in the following section, selected suppliers shall adhere them and comply with international, national and local laws and regulations, which are applicable to their activities, sites worldwide and countries in which they operate. Respect of the charter will be considered in the continuing commercial relationship between Nexans and its suppliers. Nexans encourages suppliers to join UN Global Compact and to promote these principles to its own suppliers and own sphere of influence.

Ethics and Business Conduct			Environment & Product
Anti-Corruption Corruption is incompatible with the ethics of Nexans and its support to UN Global Compact. Nexans suppliers shall conduct their business according to the principles of honesty, equity and in compliance with rules and regulations prohibiting corruption in commercial transactions.	Gifts & Invitations Nexans suppliers do not to offer any Group employee gifts or invitations that could influence (or be considered as intended to influence) the judgment of Nexans employee concerned in his or her relations with the suppliers.
